THE INDIAN TERRITORY.

An Eastern exchange says of the Indian Territory that it is an absolute Garden of Eden. It is bounded on the north by Kansas, on the south by Texas, on the east by Missouri and Arkansas, and on the west by Texas and New Mexico. It has an area of 70,000 square miles and a population of 40,000, comprising the Cherokee tribe in the north, the Creeks and Seminoles in the middle, and the Chickasaws in the south. These the Cherokee fribe in the north, the Creeks and Seminoles in the middle, and the Chickasaws in the south. These have all been removed here within the past forty years from their former homes in North Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee, Alabama, Florida and Mississippi. The climate of this beautiful region may be described as perfect. It has a short, mild, winter of two months, and a long, mild summer of ten. It knows no severity of either season, either of winter's cold or summer's heat, but every season is so tempered as if the will of the Almighty had been to make it especially favorable for the development of the human family. The jandscape presult of the human family. The jandscape presult either a plain chameled with facts, stretching out for hundreds of miles, level as a billiard-table, or as a rolling prairie, dotted with groves of fact trees. Everywhere streams of crystal purity meander through the plane. roling prairie, dotted with groves of fast trees. Everywhere streams of crystal purity meander through the plains. The papaw and the wild grape cluster on the banks, and in the fall season load the air with perfume. In the south is a region especially fitted for cotton. In the north wheat and fruits and cattle can be noted to a greater advantue, then north wheat and truits and cattle can be passed to a greater advantage than any other land in the Union. It is emphati-cally what the Hebrews described the Land of Judea to be—a land overflowing with milk and honey; picturing in a few brief words a country where the cattle wandered over the rich pastures, and where bees buzzed in the calyxes of myr-

The Next Congress.—The first session of the Forty-third Congress will commence on Monday, December 1st, less than five months hence. It will be an important session, and many measures important session, and many measures of great consequence to the country will be considered and acted on. Most important of all is the increase of the pay of Congressmen. With remarkable anaminity, the people in every section of the country demanded the repeal of the bill by which the compensation of Congressmen was increased 59 per cent, and if the Forty-third Congress does not speedily pass a repealing bill, those of its speedily pass a repealing bill, those of its specify pass a repealing bill, those of its members who are instrumental in defeating the measure will be as unpopular as are those who originally passed the bill. Next among the important measures to be considered is a postal telegraph till. This will be strongly opposed by the present monopoly. But the people, by an overwhelming majority, are in favor of it, and if a majority of the next Congress is incorruptible, a postal least Congress is incorruptible, a postal next Congress is incorruptible, a postal telegraph bill will be passed. At the last session, a committee of the Senate was appointed to investigate and report upon the subject of electing President and Vice President of the United States by a direct rote of the people. This also is a sry important subject, and one upon which there can be no doubt as to the flews and wishes of the people.

SEVERE BUT TRUE. - Parson Brownlow. Senator from Tennessee, recently took offence at some remarks of Gen. D. H. Hill, and pitched into him in the coarse, vulgar style peculiar to him, whereupon Gen. Hill draws the following truthful portrait of Brownlow

The whole life of this miserable creathe whole his of this miserable creature has been a shame and a lie. A minister of the pure gospel of Christ, be has beiched forth nothing but falsehood, blasphemy and obscenty. For a quarter of a century the self-elected (Moisse To LET.) champion of human bondage, he has for twelve years traveled in loving sympathy ell-bound party" of abolitionists. The first to suggest a Southern confederacy, he has been the fiercest per-secutor of the confederates. Bragging the terrible things he would do in war. he slunk into a bomb-proof on the strong side at the first whistle of balls. Preachng, writing and lecturing for twenty years that the negro was a brute, fit only for bondage, he owes his present Senatorial honors to negro influence. Prating all his life about honesty, he voted for letter GEO. C. JOHN the back salary steal and took his share of the stolen money.

A roung woman once married a man by the name of Dust, against the wish of her parents. After a short time they be-can to quarrel, and she attempted to rearn to her father's house, but he refused to receive her, saying: "Dust thou art and unto Dust thou shalt return." And he got up and "dusted."

DOUBTED HER WORD .- A San Bernar ding Assessor asked a woman how many chickens she had, and doubting her word proceeded to count them. She took him to the bee-hive, kicked it over, and inted him to count the bees. He'll take a oman's word next time.

Governor Washburn, of Wisconsin, in a recent message called church fairs, charitable gift enterprises, etc., "the school where gamblers are made," and commended a law to break them up.
